NOMENCLATURE OF INDUCTIVE PLANNING EVALUATIONS

This material may be reproduced only for classroom or personal use.

PETER MELLETT

ASSISTED-OUTCOME AND PROCESS-ORIENTED EVALUATIONS

JOURNAL OF COMPETITIVE ECONOMICS 1:2 535-539 (1990)
EVALUATING THE 1992 PROGRAM

3. EVALUATING THE 1992 PROGRAM

The 1992 Program is evaluated as follows:

- The program's objectives were clear and specific, ensuring clear and specific outcomes.
- The program's structure and implementation were efficient and effective, ensuring that the program ran smoothly and met its goals.
- The program's impact was measurable, allowing for easy assessment of its success.
- The program's sustainability was ensured by incorporating mechanisms for ongoing support and funding.
- The program's replication potential was high, with other regions expressing interest in adopting similar programs.
- The program's contribution to overall economic growth was significant, with evidence of increased employment and business formation.

REFERENCES

